COTHM, with a focused approach towards the uplift of the hospitality and tourism sectors in Pakistan, is actually serving the nation.

How do you see the current education system in Pakistan?

It is excellent and equally good. It is at par with the international standards because all the degrees of the higher education institutions are internationally recognized. Therefore, we are satisfied.

Should we adopt degree with skills track in Pakistan?

Well! It is a debatable point. In the previous years, the higher education institutions like universities had been focusing on delivering maximum theoretical knowledge presupposing that the students would gain the practical knowledge in the field. Market situation is a bit different now. Today’s employer needs an individual who has degree as well as skills. I think that the academicians
